The freight business on the C. and O. is certainly on the increase, judging from the number of trains being run. Yesterday thirty-five trains passed through this city, all freight. There were as many as four trains in sight at one time. The passenger business is also heavy, as nearly every train that passes this city is crowded.

"Jumbo" Luman, that jolly Glasteatus who manipulates the bellows and alarm clock on the electric railway line, took a day off yesterday. Armed with shotgun and a dog he went forth to capture rabbits and squirrels and doves, but at 5:30 last evening he came in, footsore and weary, bringing a couple of small fish. He won't tell where he shot them.

A lonely young maiden from Clyde, As an actress her fortune once thrived, But she had the pluck To face the bad luck Of the show, so she sat down and cried.

A youth, far out on the ocean, Grew ill from the ship's rocking motion. With a sigh and a sob, And a tear in his eye, Of living he gave up the notion.

"My mind's changed," said the maid to her wooer, As into a passion he threw'er, But it made her heart ache To have him her ring take, And then send his lawyer to sue'er.

Once during a certain king's reign A youth loved a maiden named Jein, In a fight fell the lad, Which was really too bad, For his death drove the maiden insane.

The firm of Owens & Barkley began business in this city January 1st, 1894, with a paid up capital of $15,000.

There was no truth in the reported tragedy at Lewisburg Sunday night. The murder took place at Flemingsburg Saturday night, as stated in yesterday's Ledger, and some one got the localities mixed.

It is reported that Dick Kyle, a former Lewisburg boy, better known as "Wine Bob," who embezzled $75,000 from the Anderson-Harris Company at Cincinnati, is located in Cape Town, Africa, and that he is again making money.

The registration in Chicago, this year is nearly 6,000 more than in New York, and the Chicago newspapers refer to this as evidence that the Windy Wonder has passed the Eastern metropolis in population as well as in territorial expansion.

Yesterday afternoon as Dave McMullen and John Slits were sitting in a turnip patch on Newgate's hill, resting from hunting all the afternoon, they saw what appeared to them at first sight a shepherd dog coming toward them.

When it had crossed the deep ravine and had jumped over the fence into the field where they were, it proved to be a large red fox. Dave McMullen opened fire from a double-barrel shotgun and killed it. The animal is a very large one, and was started up over the hill by a little negro boy.

WHO TO VOTE FOR.

CANDIDATES PRESENTED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Brief Sketch of Captain Morris C. Hutchins, Our Candidate for Judge of the Mason County Court—A Good Soldier and a Good Citizen.

Be sure to put the X mark right under the Eagle, inside of the border.

Captain Morris C. Hutchins, the Republican candidate for Judge of the Mason County Court, was born in Mayville, Ky., April 12th, 1842.

He was educated at Randolph and Richeson's Seminary and the Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, O.

Under President Lincoln's call for 75,000 men for three months he enlisted May 3d, 1861, as a private in Captain John R. Hurd's Company of "Greenback Irishmen," Kentucky's quota having failed, that command was discharged May 27th, 1861.

He again enlisted as a private June 11th, 1861, for three years in Captain Warner Spencer's Company D, Second Kentucky Infantry, and participated with that command in the campaign in Western Virginia in the summer and fall of 1861.

He was recommended by Generals W. S. Rosecrans and J. D. Cox in December, 1861, to the Military Board of Kentucky for promotion for meritorious conduct, and was commissioned Second Lieutenant of Company I, Sixteenth Kentucky Infantry, December 19th, 1861, promoted to First Lieutenant of the Company September 3d, 1862, and to the rank of Captain August 1st, 1864.

He was appointed Aide-de-Camp and Inspector General of the First Brigade, Third Division, Twenty-third Army Corps, November 1st, 1864, and served in that capacity in the famous battle of Franklin, Tenn., November 30th, 1864, and in the field reports of that battle is specially mentioned for "valuable and gallant conduct," and was mustered out of the military service August 2d, 1865, after an almost continuous service of over four years.

Returning to Mayville, Mr. Hutchins studied law in the office of Hon. W. H. Wadsworth and was admitted to the bar in 1868.

He served the people of Mayville two terms as Mayor, was Master Commissioner of the Mason Circuit Court four years, and was Postmaster of this city by appointment of President Garfield.

In every position that he has been called upon to fill he has given satisfaction, and has left a good record.

He was once a candidate for the State Senate, being defeated by only a few votes, and recently came near beating a popular Democratic candidate for the Legislature.

Mr. Hutchins is well qualified for the office of County Judge, and if elected he will deal justly, impartially and courteously with all who have business in that Court.

Eastern anthracite sales agents have decided to advance prices and put no limit on the production. Hereafter they have depended upon the limitation to maintain and even advance prices.

Mr. Hume of Frankfort has pronounced Bert Shackelford, the six-year-old child of Widow Olive Shackelford, as suffering from hydrophobia. The child was bitten three weeks ago by a mad dog.

The prospects for a big Republican victory in Kenton county were never as bright as now. They realize that the opportunity of their lives is at hand, and are leaving no stone unturned to secure that end.

The long expected rival of the Whisky Trust has at last been chartered under the laws of New Jersey. It is called the Great White Spirit Company, with capital of $5,000,000. The incorporators are New England distillers and retired members of the Whisky Trust.

Mitchell & O'Hare carry a full stock of Powder, Shot and Shells at lowest prices in the city.

The receivers of the Chesapeake, Ohio and Southwestern Railroad are said to regard Paducah as an inconvenient location for the shops, and will ask authority to remove them.

Governor Brown has granted a pardon to Tom Allman, a convict serving seven years sentence from Hopkins county. Allman killed his father nearly ten years ago, being then a mere youth. The killing is now said to be justified by nearly all the people of Hopkins county, as it was done in defense of his mother, the father being drunk and having made a desperate assault upon her.

CARLISLE'S DILEMMA.

The Incident of Mr. Morton's Coachman Costing Democrats Votes.

The Administration would be very glad to get out of the dilemma of having to carry out the program of small politics involved in the transportation of Mr. Morton's coachman.

The report of the special Committee of Immigration Inspectors in this case was received at the Treasury Department Saturday, and will be placed before Secretary Carlisle today.

It is stated that Mr. Morton will be given an opportunity to be heard on the subject by an attorney, as the report is favorable to the transportation of Howard, the coachman.

This case has caused the Administration much chagrin.

The charges against the coachman were begun for the purpose of injuring Mr. Morton's character in the Presidential contest, but it has turned out to be a boomerang now coming back on the Democrats.

The Administration realizes that its course toward Mr. Morton is regarded by all fair-minded people as being a species of persecution, and shows to what extent the Democrats are willing to resort to small politics.

A great many protests have been received at the Treasury Department from New York Democrats, asking that the case be disposed of with as little delay as possible in order that it may pass from the public view.

The New Yorkers have stated that they talk about the matter in every way to the taste of Mr. Morton, and are losing votes for the Democracy, while it is doing nothing to increase their strength. It is expected that the case will be disposed of today.

Mr. Morton is treating the incident as of little importance and with the dignity for which he is well known.

HERE'S A PRETTY MESS.

No Way Left Now of Preventing Vote Repeating.

Our friends the Democrats have repealed the Federal Election Laws, and here is how the floodgates of fraud have been opened up because of it.

A telegram from Kansas City, Mo., says, according to a decision by Assistant United States District Attorney Draffon, vote repeating at the November election can go on uninterrupted at infinitum without the slightest danger of prosecution of offenders by the United States authorities.

The opinion was given on the application of Chairman Olsen, of the Republican County Central Committee of Jackson county, for warrants for the arrest of certain persons who had been detected registering twice or three times under assumed names. After careful investigation and research into the statutes bearing on the elections, Mr. Draffon said:

"I have been unable to find anything in the statutes authorizing the United States to punish persons for fraudulent registration, except Section 5313 of the revised statutes, known as the Crimes Act. I find that this section has been repealed."

Mr. Draffon then read from the Congressional Record sections which showed clearly that this section had been repealed. He added: "Under the circumstances, I can do nothing except to refer Mr. Olsen to the Prosecuting Attorney of the county."

"If a man should vote twice or three times, as 'Pinkie' Blitz, who was convicted last year for so doing, can be punished," Mr. Draffon was asked.

"No. Not in the United States Court."

"Then the Government cannot interfere in an election, even when the election of a Congressman is involved?"

"According to this construction, it cannot."

According to the conclusions reached by Mr. Draffon, any person may vote as often as the judges may let him with a certainty that he will not answer for it before Judge Phillips.

McKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.

In 1890 William McKinley was turned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was dined and wine in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

INGRATITUDE is one of the basest of human actions. It is especially base in the man who has risen to fame through the efforts of personal and political admirers, and who then, from the standpoint of his own self-importance, seeks to strike down those who created him.

History records no more striking example of the exercise of this act than that of GROVER CLEVELAND, President of the United States, in his refusal to register in New York a few days since.

But the incident is best treated by the Democratic press of New York City and THE LEDGER prefers to let the story be told by them:

"Mr. GROVER CLEVELAND was never more like himself than when he slipped away to Washington on Thursday. He had refused to lift a pen or say a word in behalf of New York Democracy, which picked him up from the foot of the Erie county gallows and made him Governor and President. He had seen the Democrats of New York fighting for the life of their party against a combination of Republicans made confident of victory by his amazing blunders, and treacherous Democrats of the faction he had made it a study to encourage and reward, and he wouldn't help his party. He preferred to continue to help the Republicans and the traitors. Senator HILL has done valiant service for him in his campaigns, and he would do nothing for Senator HILL, now fighting against great odds the most gallant of his many battles for the Democracy. The Democrats of other states looked to Mr. CLEVELAND as the titular head of his party to add by all legitimate means the canvass of the New York Democrats because the hopes of the National Democracy are bound up in the success of the canvass. Experience should have taught the Democrats better. They should have known before this that he regards it as the sole duty and purpose of the Democratic party to keep him in office. It doesn't occur to him that there is any obligation on his part to do anything for the party.

"As a new document in the history of the leading case of enlargement of the faculty of self-esteem, Mr. CLEVELAND's sinking away to Washington has an interest. It may recall attention to the fact that notions of gratitude, personal or political, are foreign to a nature monopolized by long admiration of itself. The Democratic party of New York will go on with the sturdy fight for democratic principles and organization, too busy for the present to pay to Mr. CLEVELAND's astounding display of political inertia the tribute it deserves.

The same day that GROVER CLEVELAND sneaked out of New York, turning his cowardly back upon the men who made him, ADAM E. WING STENSON came into New York to take his share of the toil and the glory of the great Democratic rally under the great Hill. Traditionally there is an opposition between the President and the Vice-President. In the case of the present President and Vice-President the opposition extends to their characters. And there is no man in New York who doesn't know who is the sneak and who the brave and generous Democrat."—New York Sun.

Following The Sun comes The World, the recognized Democratic organ of the whole country.

"Mr. Cleveland Will Not Vote.—The first citizen of the Republic has failed to perform the first duty of citizenship. GROVER CLEVELAND, President of the United States, has deliberately and purposefully evaded an opportunity to vote at the most important election of his own state. He has by that act indicated his desire for the defeat of the Democratic party in this state as clearly and distinctly as though he had written a letter advising all good Democrats to vote for MORTON.

"Failure to vote might have been understood differently, for, after all, one vote is only one vote, whether it be that of the President or of the humblest citizen. But to deliberately arrange to be in New York, apparently for no special business, at a time when registry could be made, and then to avoid the opportunity to register, when it involved no more trouble than a delay of a few hours longer in the city, was an open and intentional advertisement of the President's wish to see the Democratic ticket beaten.

"There can be but one reason for this, and that is the President's personal dislike for Senator HILL. No principle of non-interference in local politics is involved, for the President who could interfere in a petty municipal contest in favor of such a man as JOHN R. FELLOWS, has no business to talk at so sturdy a man and Democrat as DAVID B. HILL, leading the Democracy of his own state.

"There can be no question of standing by friends, of an indulgence to those ardent followers of his personal cause, even when they are in the wrong. When he has GROVER CLEVELAND ever hesitated to sacrifice his most devoted followers upon the altar of what he conceived to be his consecrated duty?

"The opportunity was a great one for the President. A few words from him would have strengthened and harmonized the party, not in New York alone, but all over the country. He could have placed HILL at his feet and bound HILL's followers permanently to his train. It was the chance of a statesman's life.

"There can be no explanation of the President's failure to avail himself of it except sheer selfish, selfish, brutal obstinacy; the obstinacy of a bulldog without the bulldog's sense, for even a bulldog knows enough to let go when there is a chance to get a better hold."—New York World.

THE EDITOR OF THE PUBLIC LEDGER seems inclined to doubt the statement of The Bulletin that at the Democratic meeting in District No. 1 the other night "crowds stood up for three hours and a half began about 7:30 and closed at 5:15 half listening to the speeches." The speakers of 11 o'clock. A gentleman who is a member of the G. A. R. and who has been a good Republican, but who will vote the Democratic ticket November 6th, was present and can vouch for this.—Bulletin.

Wonder if BERT MARSH ever read the foregoing article? If he has, he must be astonished at the perfect accuracy of his statement of the case.

SEN BALLENGER THE JEWELER.

The appreciative theater-going public will certainly be accorded a treat in witnessing the presentation of Mr. John Griffith and his excellent company of Goethe's tragic poem "Faust" at the Opera-house tomorrow night. To those who go a most agreeable and satisfactory performance is promised. Mr. Griffith in the role of "Mephisto" shows all the infernal ability, malignant cruelty, terrible hate and malicious shrewdness with which that character is imbued, and in his tragic passages reveals power that promises a winning place for him in the field of acting. The production is staged with the greatest care and attention, and goes to make a perfect performance. The scenery is a revelation of stage art, while electricity and calcium accessories add to the dazzling, mysterious and bewildering effects.

A SIGHT CLEW.

Wonderfully Effective Detective Work From It.

The Pacific Express Robbery Cleared by Confession After

The Arrest of Two Respectable Young Men at Dallas, Ore., of Respectable Parentage—Large Amount of Gold Found Under a Chinese Wash House.

THE DALLAS, Ore., Oct. 30.—After three weeks' unsuccessive endeavor on the part of detectives and local officers, the parties who robbed the Pacific Express Co.'s office in this city of $14,000 on Oct. 1, have at last been apprehended and placed under arrest, and all but $200 of the money recovered. Frank Klein and Otis Savage, young men of respectable parentage, living here, are in jail, having made a complete confession of the theft. Many clues were followed by detectives, but all proved fruitless until Sheriff Driver suggested that possibly Klein and Savage, who had been living in idleness about town, and who once belonged to a gang known locally as the Hawthorne gang of desperadoes, might be implicated. It was reported that the young men were separated from the gang on account of a disagreement as to the plan for robbing a Union Pacific train at a point between here and Portland on a short stage from Union Pacific, and that they had been separated from the gang and had been robbing a store here of a lot of guns, pistols and ammunition and left for their rendezvous near Mt. Hood.

It is said the only clew to the robbers was a bar of steel, sharpened at one end and fashioned into a hook at the other, which was found beside the empty treasure box on the floor of the express office on the morning of the robbery. Following the suggestion of Sheriff Driver, Detective Sam Simons, of Portland, and Lord of the Surety company, visited the shop and living room of Klein and Savage, which is in a barn in Klein's yard. The walls of the room bristled with guns of every description and the room also contained an arsenal and tools for doing light blacksmithing. Sheriff Driver, learning this, took the steel tools to Salem, where, one of the gang is called, and the steel tool, which he found, learned it was fashioned in this shop by members of the Hawthorne gang.

Savage at first maintained a solid silence when told of Klein's confession, saying he was innocent of the crime, but when confronted by his pal he had nothing more to say. Klein also confessed that they had robbed the post office here on the night of September 6. These arrests broke up one of the worst gangs of robbers in this section, and relieve Express Agent Hill of odium which suspicion cast upon him when dispatches chronologically stated that he had been arrested for committing the steel theft.

John C. Eno's Case.—The United States supreme court Monday reversed the decision of the circuit court in the case of John C. Eno, formerly president of the Second National bank of New York, who was convicted of forgery in the New York state courts about ten years ago. This view of the law was upheld by the circuit court, but is upset by Monday's decision of the supreme court, which remanded the case to the state courts.

SHRINKAGE IN COTTON.

It Is Believed It May Reach a Hundred Million Dollars.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The decline in the price of cotton, going on now for more than a year, but accentuated within the last six weeks, has been watched with interest by dealers in this city. They generally are of the opinion that the drop in prices has already reached the south, taking the difference between values a year ago and what they are to-day, on the estimated crop of 9,000,000 bales, the tiny little sum of $90,000,000 in round numbers. If the crop turns out 10,000,000 bales, as many believe, the shrinkage and loss will measure up to $100,000,000.

Henry Hente, one of the foremost prominent cotton merchants in the city, said: "I have letters from Liverpool, in which they say that cottons are being received there from America that cotton can be raised at four and a half to five cents a pound. I am not prepared to make any statement. I think those statements are sent to Europe by the 'bears.' When some men are short of cotton it is surprising what they will say."
